WHAT IS MEDICAL AFFAIRS?

Medical Affairs is one of the three major scientific functions in at Vertex. Over the course of a medicine's lifecycle, it will be discovered in Research division, move to Development to undergo trials in patients, and once approved, Medical Affairs works with physicians to answer questions and share scientific data.

Medical Affairs the bridge connecting Vertex science with healthcare stakeholders. We communicate science customized to the audience, adding value to medical practice and patients' wellbeing. We listen to the healthcare community to uncover unmet needs and knowledge and data gaps for further data generation and educational activities.
